Poultry Blood Testing: Chicken pullorum testing should be completed BEFORE you bring any new market birds onto your property (particularly turkeys as a veterinarian would need to be utilized to do a blood draw on them IF you do not have appropriate paperwork for existing chickens or turkeys. (If you have turkeys currently, you will need to set up an appointment with the State NPIP tester to have them come out and certify your farm BEFORE your 2023 market birds arrive.
